FOREWORD

In the competitive world in which we live, spiritual, intellectual, and vocational opportunities are continually presenting themselves to those who have opened the proper doors. In keeping with the school's ideal to educate the "whole man," the curriculum offered prepares the high school student to face the problems of tomorrow. Participation in such fields as sports, forensics, languages, sciences, and religion serve as doors to the attainment of future goals. Those who have gone before us have found their mastery invaluable in the careers pursued. We of the Class of '66 have chosen DOORS as the theme of our annual in order to instill into the minds of its readers an understanding of the institution which has left us with so many happy memories, and equipped us with the knowledge and skill to open any door in our future lives.

Principal

DEDICATION

It has often been said that an organization is only as good as its leader. Perhaps this is why Cathedral High School has achieved the high rating which it has today. Through the untiring endeavors of Sister M. Jane, our principal, we have come to love and respect our "Alma Mater." On first entering Cathedral High School the student is immediately aware of the competent and professional attitude of Sister Jane. Soon, however, this is enhanced by the knowledge that behind the armor of a principal stands a faithful, devoted human being. Cloaked in the habit of an Immaculate Heart Sister, Sister Jane is ever ready to lend a sincere ear to our problems. In order to express our appreciation and gratitude for the years of service which she has given our school, we of the Class of '66 wish to dedicate this TURRIS to Sister M. Jane, our beloved principal.

The Most Reverend
Jerome D. Hannan, D.D.

Requiescat in pace.

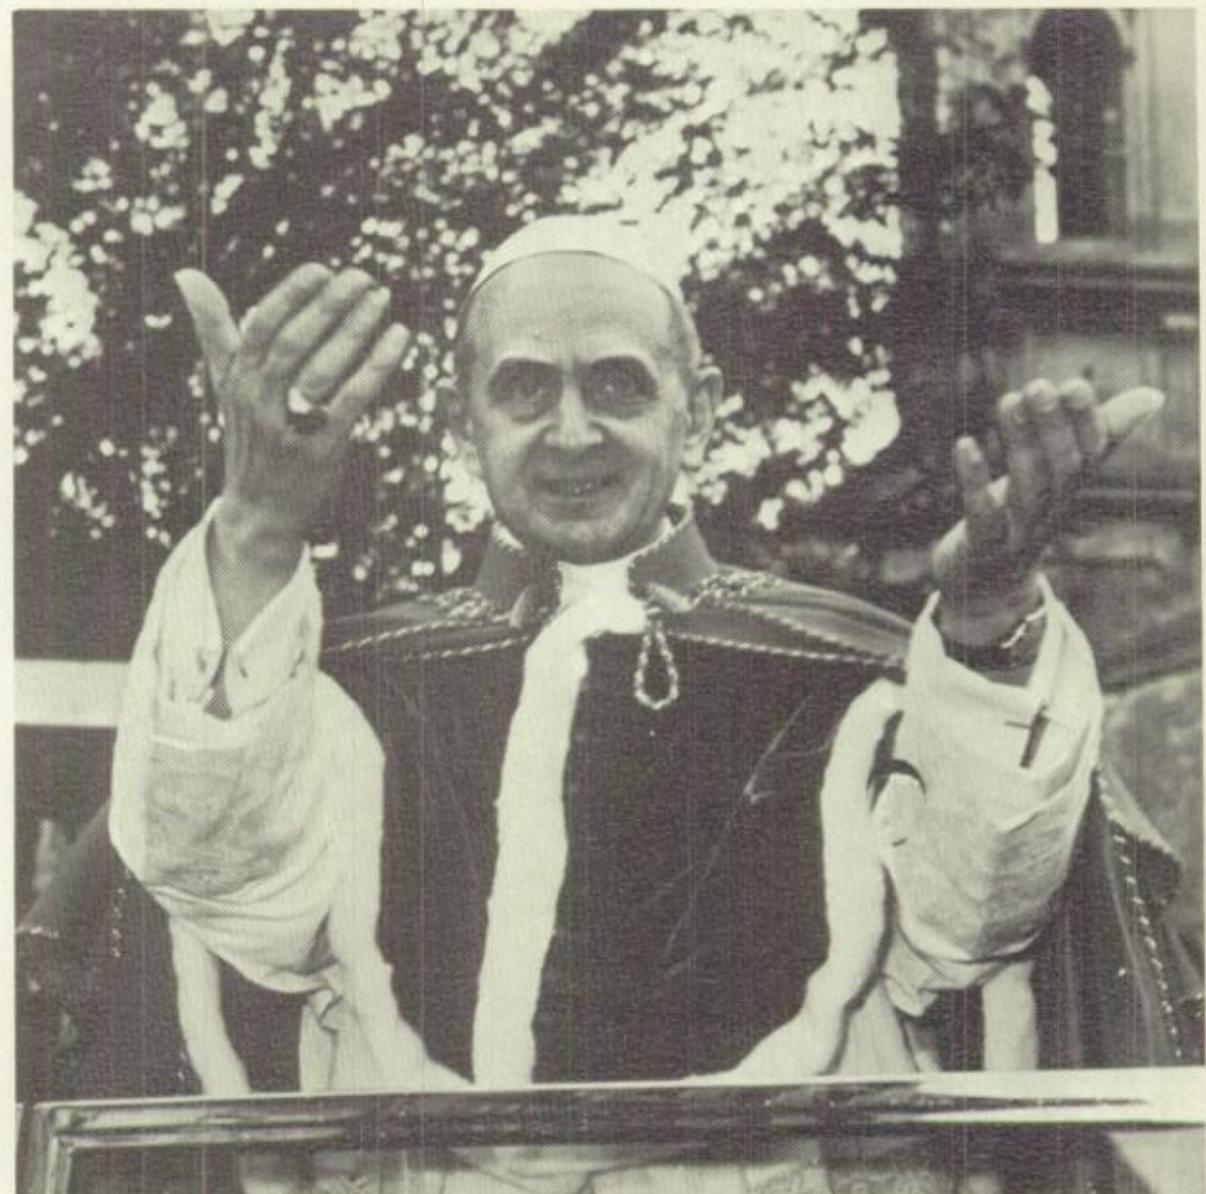

"The Lord loved him and adorned him; he crowned him with a robe of glory."

It seemed as if we were worlds apart, yet we were united in Christ. For the eight short years of its life, Cathedral High School has followed the guiding steps of Bishop Jerome D. Hannan. We listened as he chanted the Pontifical High Mass; we saw him ordain young men to the priesthood; and we felt the touch of his hand when he marked us as soldiers of Christ.

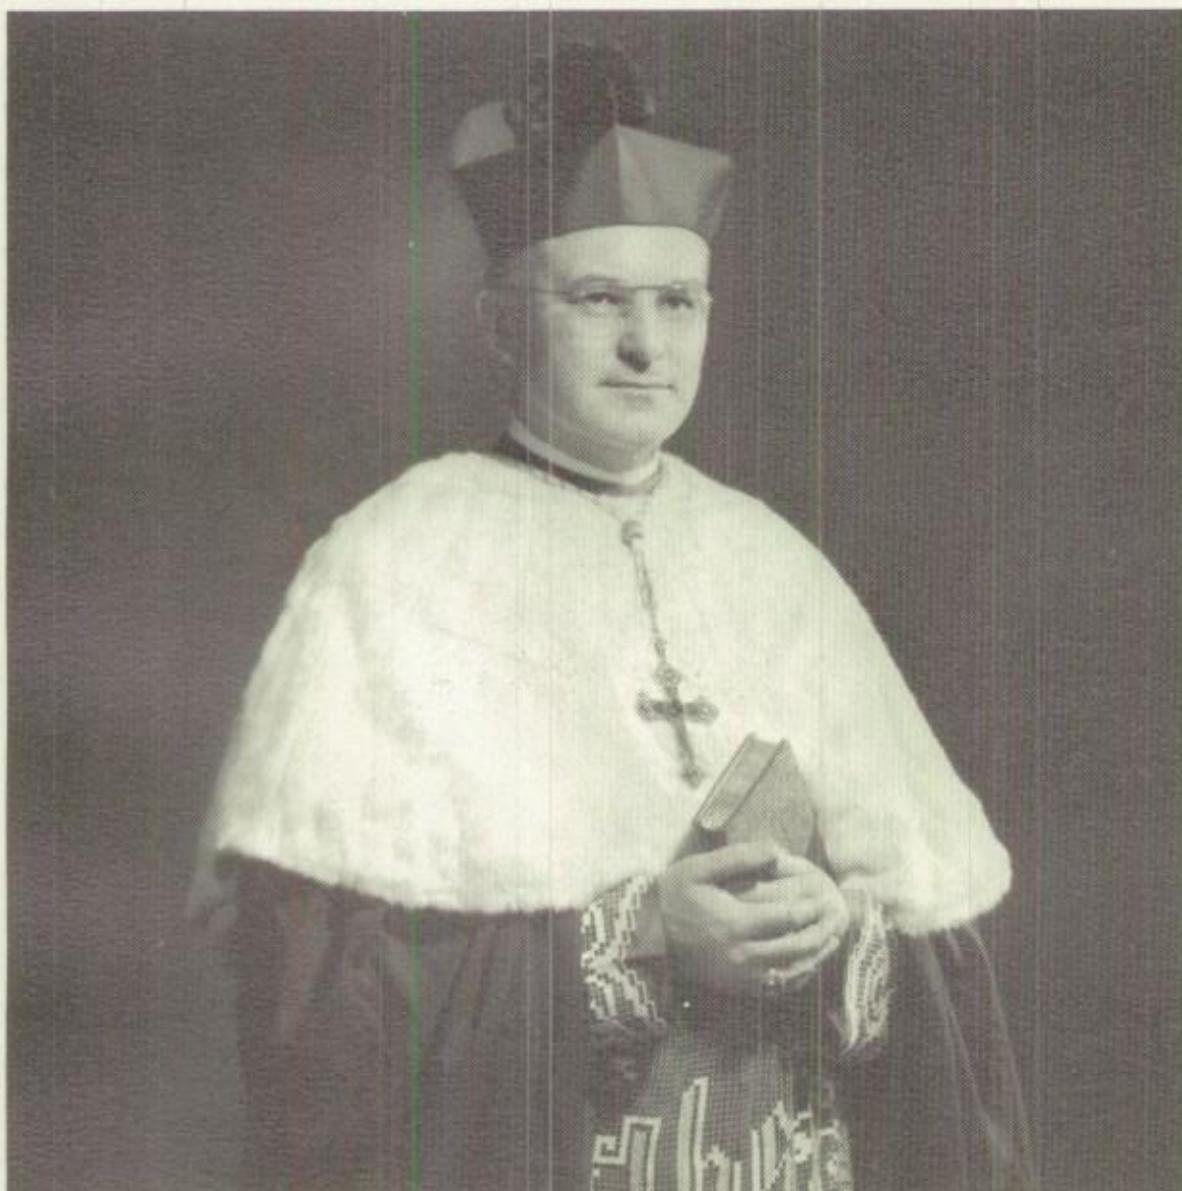

Caring for his flock took Bishop Hannan to Rome and the Eccumenical Council. There he worked with the Pope and afterwards returned home bearing the Holy Spirit's message for his people. We have experienced and lived under his rule.

Once again God called His servant to Vatican City; but this time it was His will that Bishop Hannan return to his true home in heaven. There, through the eyes of the Good Shepherd, He will forever watch over his flock.

Editors and Moderator!
From the smiles of approval, this group must be very proud of a job well done--the latest issue of our PETRINIAN.

Miss Beekman is busy at her desk, as Mary Pat interviews Sister Nivard for a future issue of the PETRINIAN.

Is Maria Zak pleased or is she just groping for an idea? It's hard to say as we take a peek at members of The PETRINIAN staff in their own workshop.

Experience counts! This is what J. Olshefski, J. Brusinski, M. A. Shea, and P. Charney must be thinking as they scan old yearbooks for new ideas.

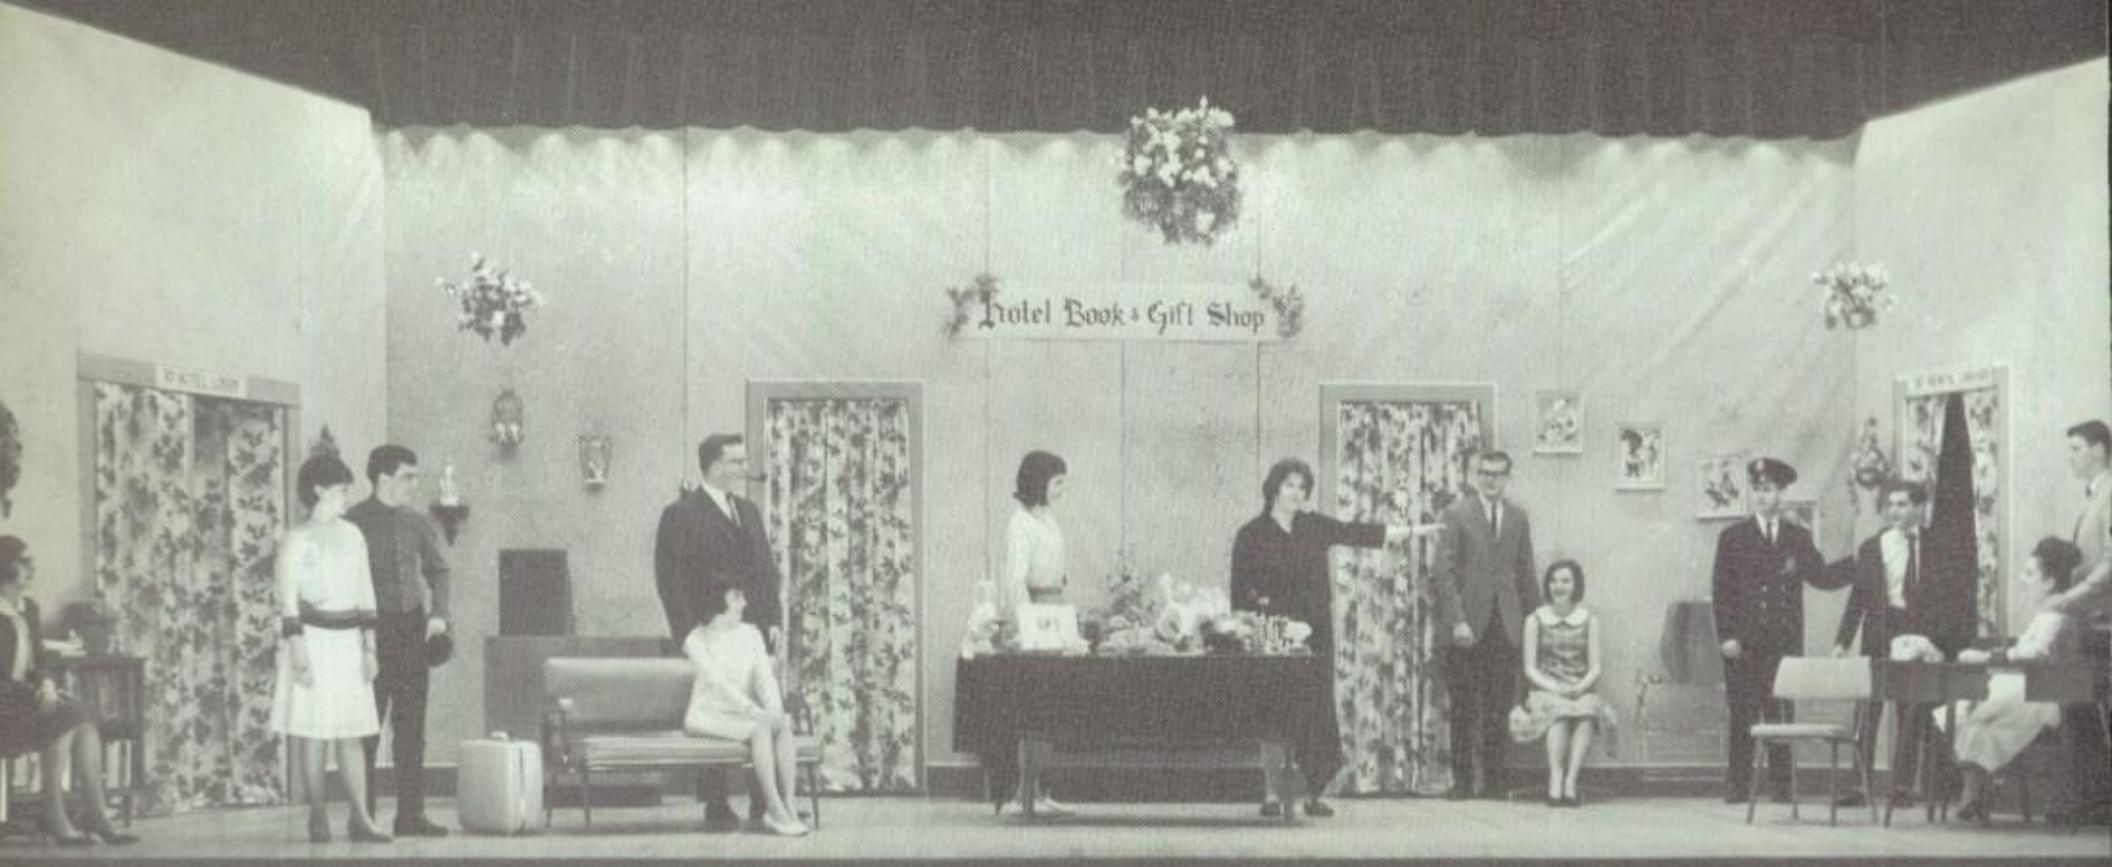

"Happiness is" being a typist for the yearbook staff.

After the annual chance drive has been completed the members of the Finance Committee check on the ticket sales. My aren't we a happy group!

Yearbook editor Barbara Cawley consults with Sister Josefita, and her chief assistants John Ruane, art editor; Joseph Gerard, Ann Corcoran, and Jane O'Brien, layout-editors.

Mable Crane and Sylvia Lee are completely stunned at Grant Terry's statement that someone in the hotel is about to be murdered.

STRANGER IN THE NIGHT

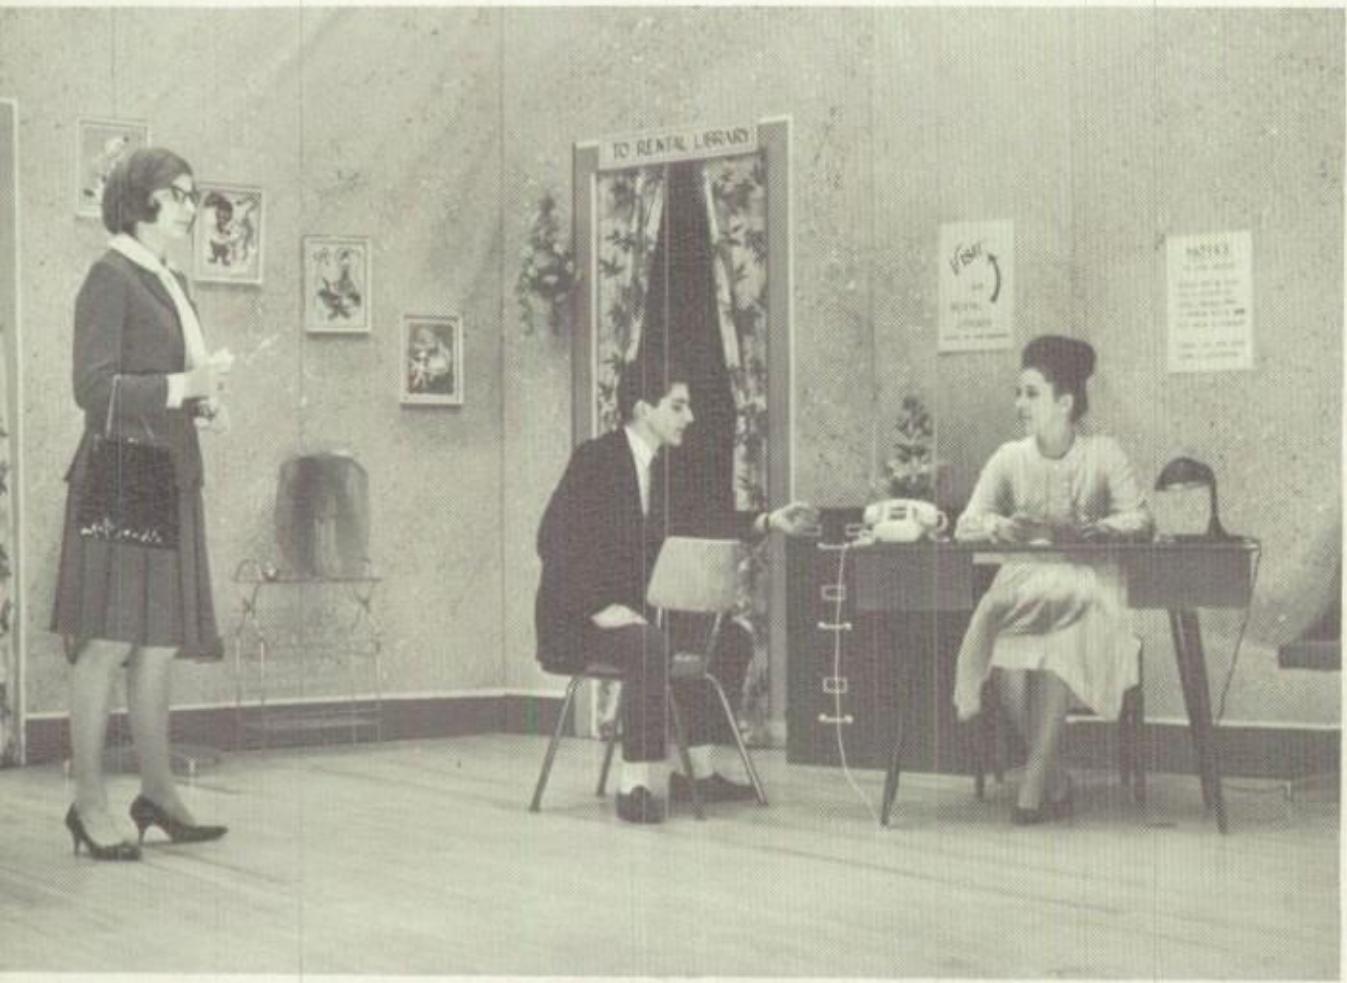

"Eddie!" Marcella Bender's idea must have overpowered our little bellhop.

"The meaning to hide what keep the heart

Do we detect a glint of approval in J. T.'s expression? He certainly isn't shocked at Velda's past.

Mr. Fisk looks surprised and disappointed as his conversation is cut short by an unexpected visitor.

Beware, Cliff! You can't imagine what that conniving young lady with the captivating smile has in store for you.

of a door is lies in side; to in suspense."

Jane O'Brien, Chris Hrebin, Linda Gagnon, and Joanne DeLeo seem to be unmoved by the contents of the mysterious suitcase.

As Bill and Lou are engrossed with the script, Joe Gerard and Buddy Mecca "take five" from their backstage duties.

As Margo Varzaly adds the finishing touches, Mary Ann Nape smiles approvingly at what she sees.

"Look John," Hank Beilman explains, "when Buddy gives the signal, it's 'all together now, 1,2,3.'

Three members of the stage crew prepare for the final performance.

With a smile of satisfaction the wardrobe committee sorts outfits after the performance.

Members of the program committee, headed by Georgette Nicolais, proudly exhibit their finished product.

Community effort goes into homework many nights during play practice.

RING CEREMONY

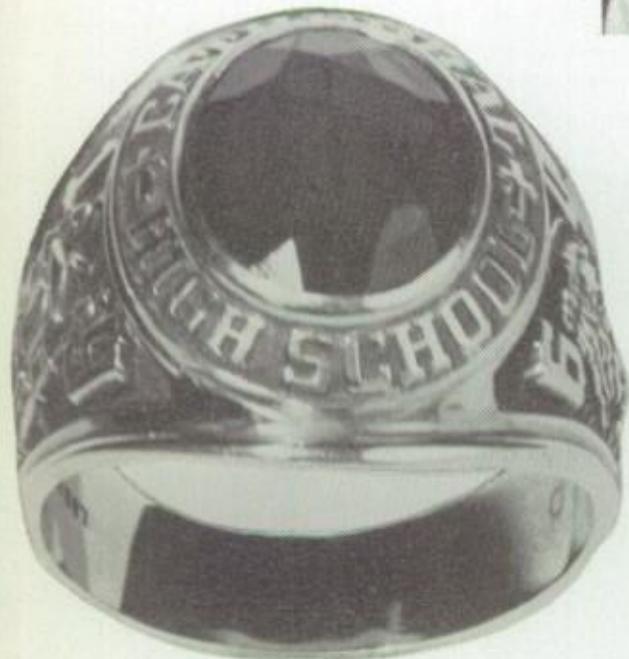

The happy smiles on the faces of these two seniors exemplify their joy upon receiving the first official signs of graduation.

Get your hands off, Kaminski! They're watching.

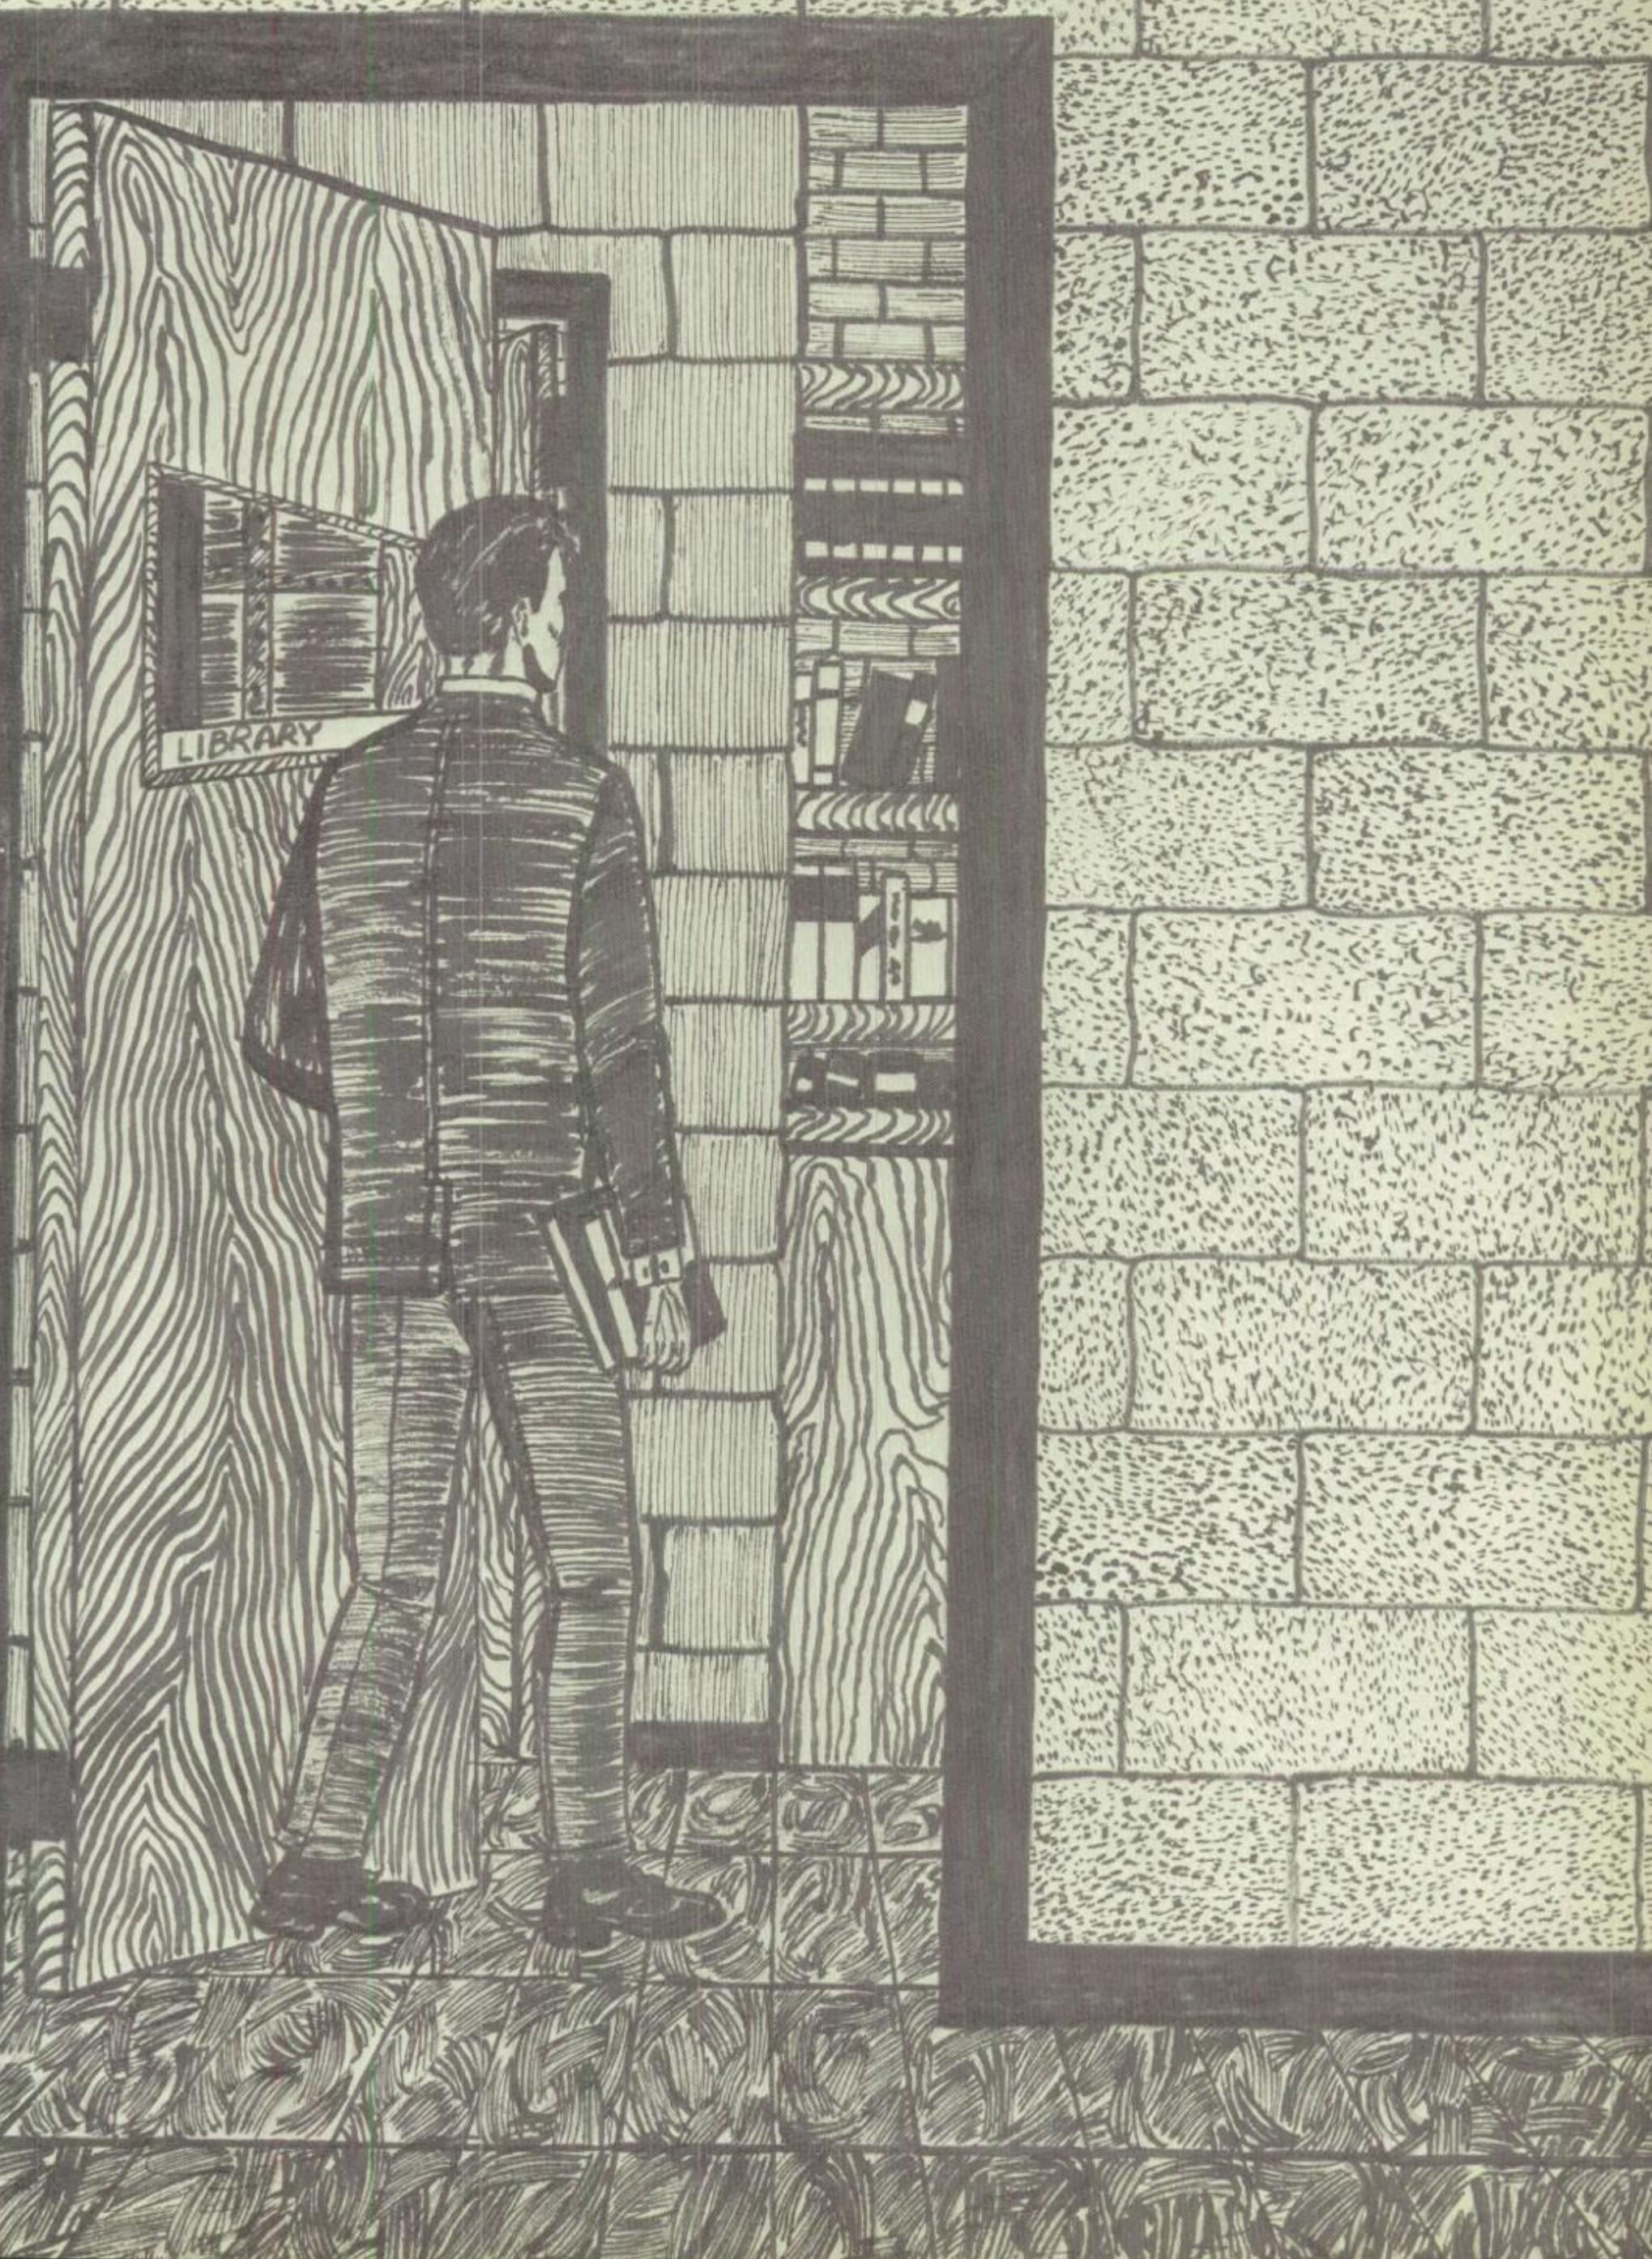

The beaming mothers of the senior class willingly offer their services on Ring Day.

Monsignor solemnly confers a 1966 class ring upon Michael Cotter.

STUDENT COUNCIL

"There is a certain kind of door opening that will come to only a select few."

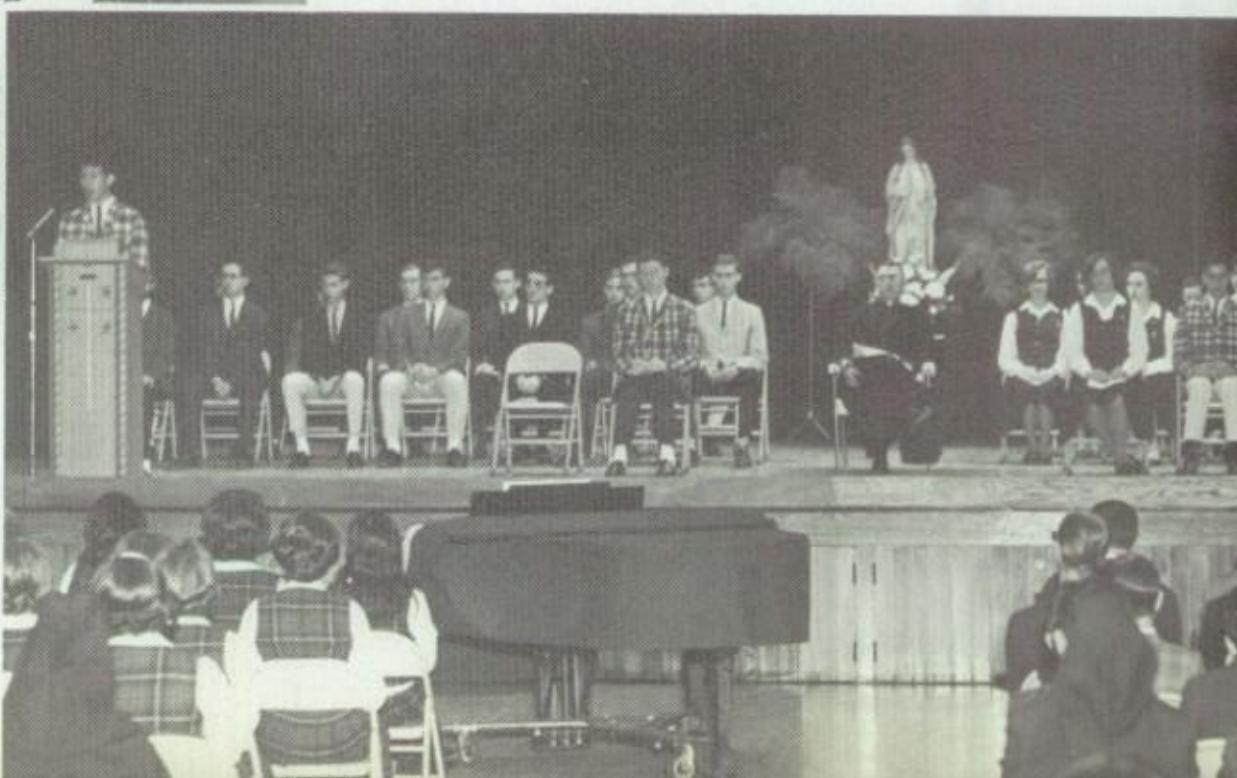

The school library is the favorite meeting place for Senior members of the Student Council. Are Ray and Mary discussing a problem?

Sister Josefita, moderator, and Sister Jane pose with Senior members of the Student Council Officers. Officers are from the left: Pres. R. St. Pierre, Sgt. at Arms Paul Toomey, Secretary A. Corcoran, V. Pres. Carl Weinschenk. Seated Class Officers L. Lyons, R. Roscoe, P. McDonald, and C. J. McHugh.

WINTER WHIRL

The decoration committee for the Winter Whirl, headed by Raymond St. Pierre, stops in the midst of preparations for a quick pose.

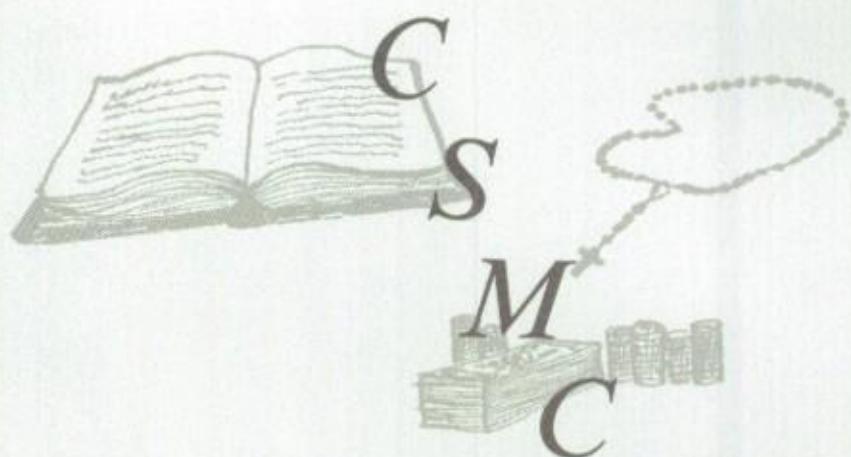

Is Leo decorating or entertaining?

Seniors Joanne DeLeo and Beverly Hatcher seem to be having fun making decorations for the Winter Whirl.

No, I didn't do it, she did.

Smiles of sacrifice! These Senior officers and representatives of the C.S.M.C. seem to radiate the spirit, don't they?

Counting and sorting stamps is only one of the many projects for the C. S. M. C. Maria Zak, Josephine Olshefski, Pat Charney, and Paula Talerico appear to be enjoying the job.

Prayer, work and sacrifice. These Senior girls are shown during a typical study club meeting as they try to bring world problems down to their individual needs.

"We are continually opening doors with hope, and looking for the guide posts to happiness."

It is a truly glorious moment as Jane O'Brien crowns Our Blessed Mother, the Queen of May.

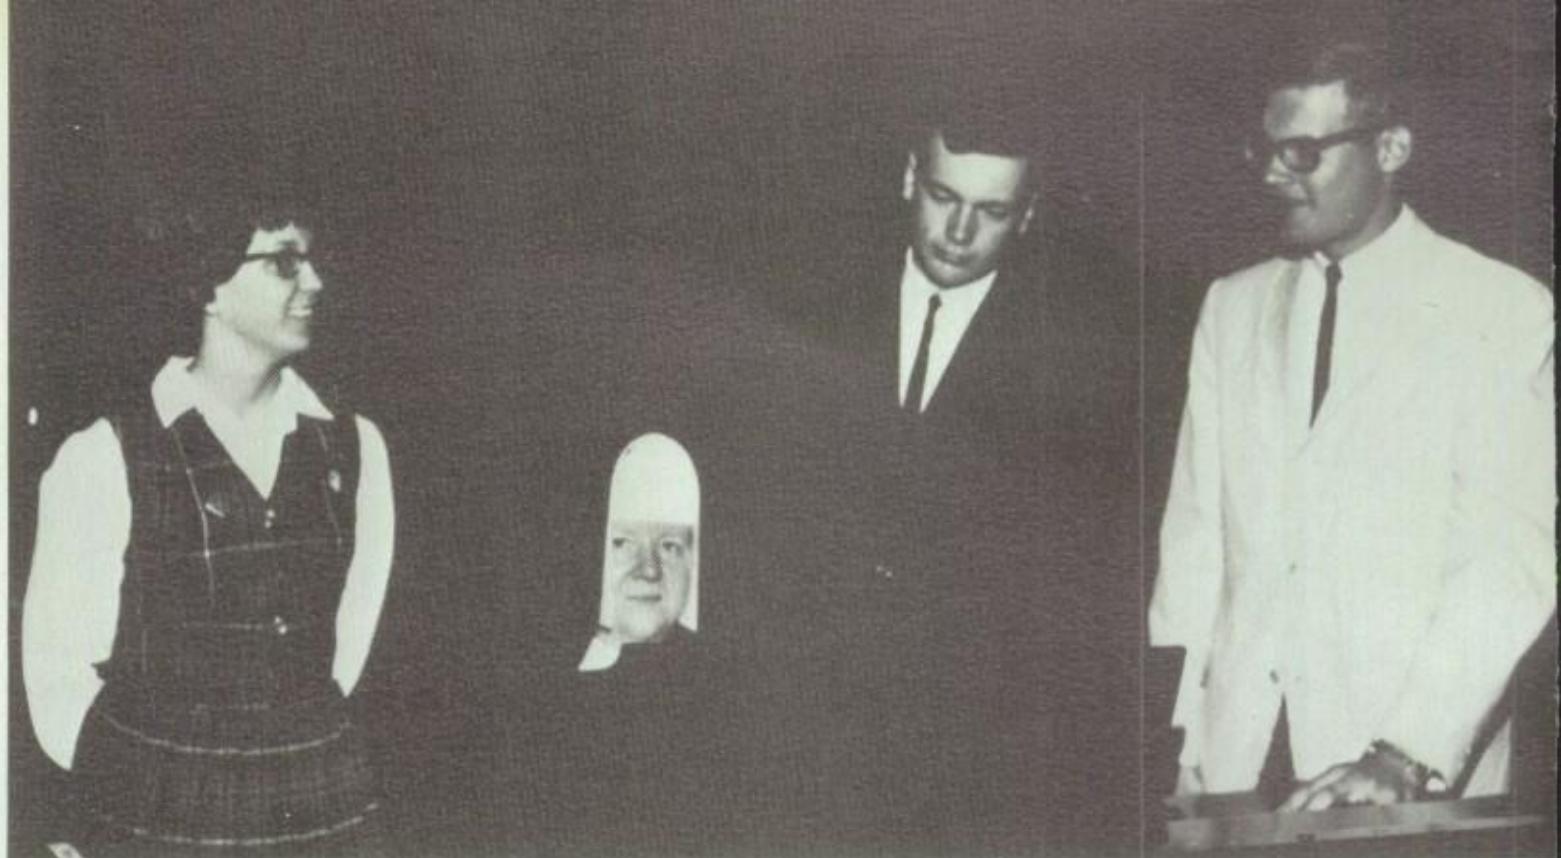

Sister Francella is pictured with the queen's court in route to the Cathedral. Mary Butterly and Patricia Joyce were the attendants to Jane O'Brien.

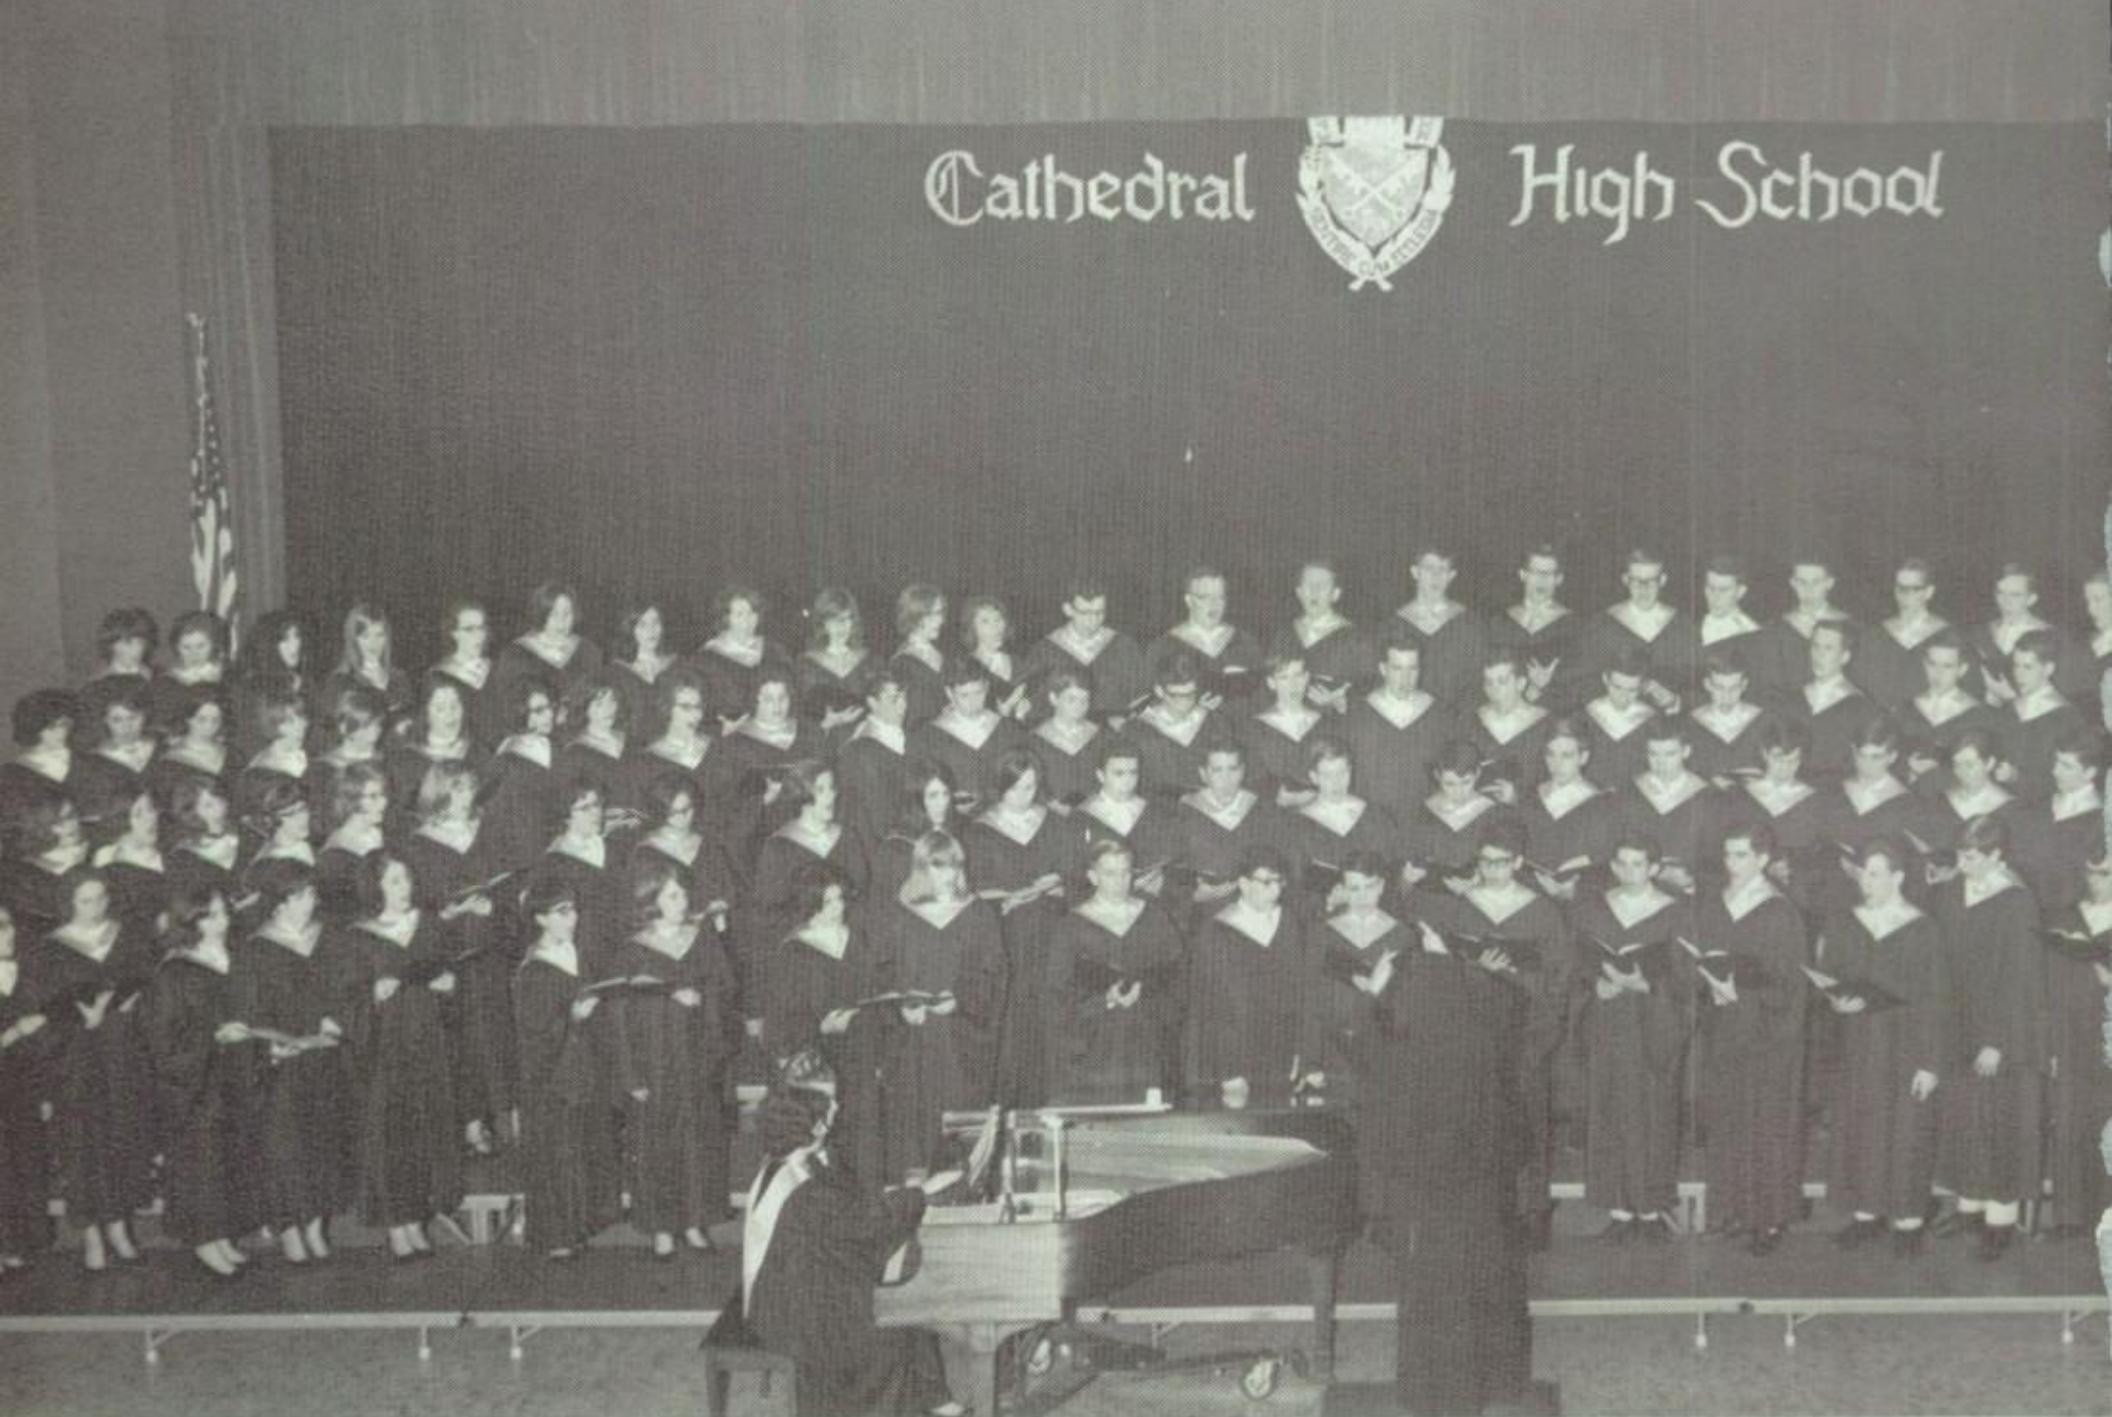

The school chapel provides the perfect setting for a fervent holy hour. Members of the Senior Sodality are shown with their Moderator, Sister Francella.

GLEE CLUB

Timothy Durkin and Hank Pichocki, Senior Officers of the Glee Club, join Natalie Milano in enjoying one of Sister Edith's fine renditions.

"In excelsis Deo!" It is with a truly joyous Christmas spirit that the Glee Club proclaims the message of Christ's birth.

Song is the door to many glimpses

Our Senior basses and tenors look engrossed in their work as they prepare for the annual Spring Concert.

Carol Dobreniecki, Karen Wetzel, and Ann Corcoran arrange the music folders after a Glee Club rehearsal. What would we do without our librarians?

Senior members of the Glee Club take a minute out from practice to pose on the risers.

How do you say "lock" in Spanish?

Four senior boys line up eagerly for Mr. Srebro's new lunch treat--"Wimpies".

In the few remaining minutes before class, seniors visit the Blessed Sacrament in the school chapel.

Mrs. Loftus' senior gym class learns the proper method of serving a tennis ball.

And what have we here? Cynthia Brooks is sporting a Cathedral book bag as a group of Seniors congregate at their favorite morning stop--the Bookbar.

F O R E N S I C S

Carl Weinschenk, President of the Forensic Club, takes advantage of the language lab facilities to enlighten other seniors on the club's activities.

Mary Butterly and Barbara Cawley display the trophy they won for girls' extemp. Their moderator, Sister Clement Marie, beams her approval.

Dinner, anyone? Jane O'Brien, Pat McHale, and Maria Zak chat with Sister Spiritus before attending the annual Forensic Banquet.

Members of the Forensic Club listen attentively as Jane O'Brien reads the secretary's report at the regular monthly meeting.

Cathedral fans pour onto the field to congratulate the Lancers after their championship game victory over Prep. "Moose" Kaminskas almost loses his shirt to one enthusiastic fan.

The 1966 Cathedral High School championship baseball team. Sitting from left to right: J. Maus, J. Lyons, R. Williams, R. Rooney, T. DeLeo. Kneeling: Coach Donovan, J. Costello, W. Hessmiller, P. Biko, G. Joyce, L. Cognetti, J. Timlin, M. Gallagher. Standing: Father Gallagher, R. Kern, H. Bunnell, J. Gallagher, M. Kaminskas, H. Pichocki, and Coach Burke.

Hank Bunnell rounds third base after hitting a key homerun in the championship game against Prep. He seems to be saying, "Catch me, coach. I'm fallin'!"

The members of the 1966 Golden Lancers, state runnerup this year from left to right are: J. Lyons, M. Gallagher, W. Summers, L. Lyons, M. Kaminskas, R. Kern, H. Bunnell, P. Lyons, M. Wolfe, P. Biko, T. DeLeo. Kneeling in front are coaches Burke and Donovan.

Members of the Varsity squad are: First row, left to right: M. E. Schaefer, L. Schon, Captain-C. Manley, Co-captain-M. Gilligan, S. Ratchford, B. Hatcher. Second row: M. Zak, J. McGoldrick, J. Kelly, Miss Butler-moderator, N. Dempsey, L. Gagnon, A. Corcoran.

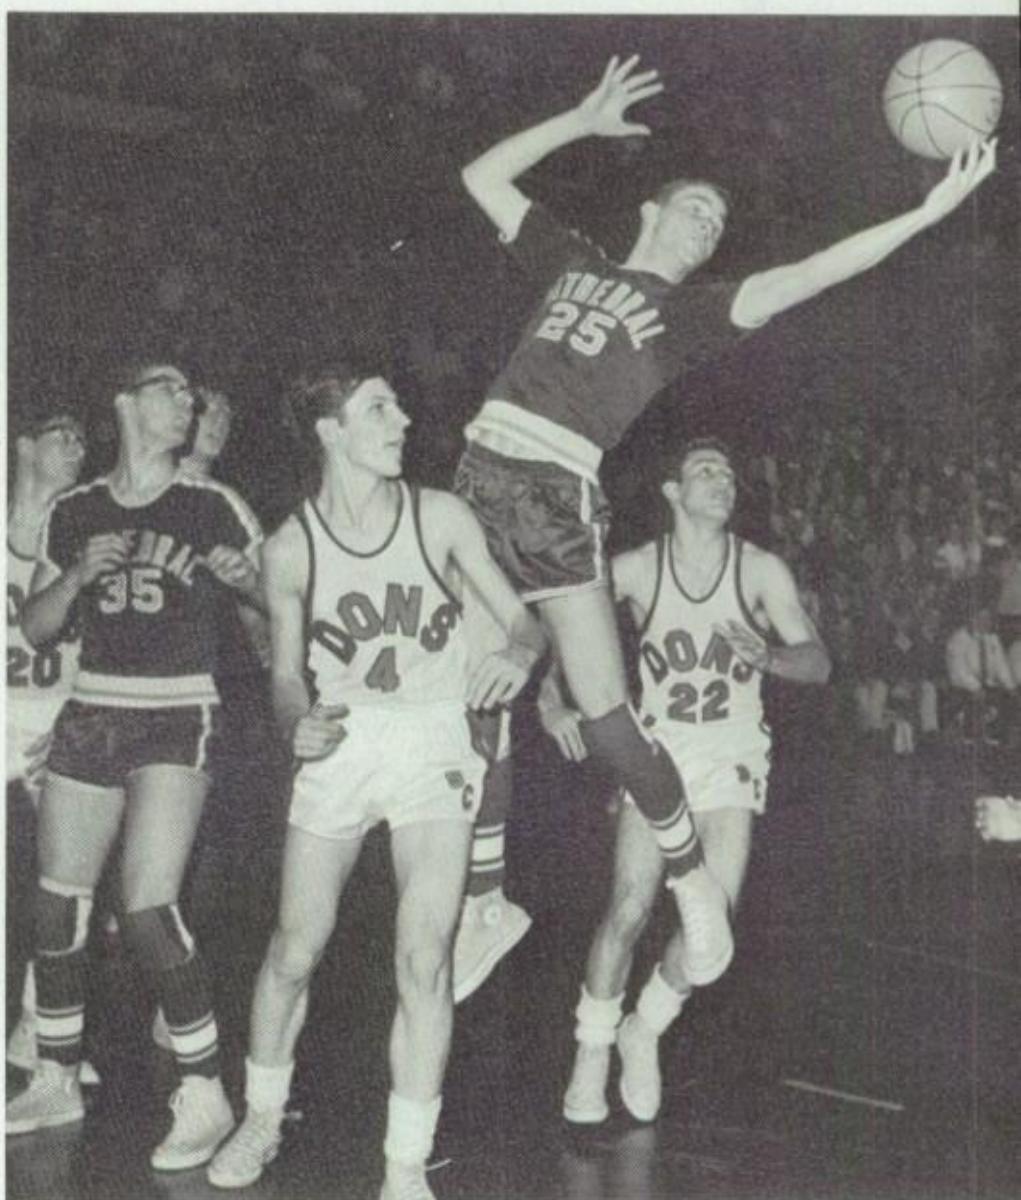

The J. V. squad includes: Captain-C. Kane and Co-captain C. Remetta, kneeling in front. Standing are: K. Semon, M. Marino, P. McLean, H. Kish, F. Sack, L. Szuch.

Co-captains Summers and Lyons look over a tally of this year's fine record with Coach Donovan.

There goes our little backcourt demon again! This time he's on his way to a two pointer against Scranton Prep.

As we of the Class of '66 pass through these hallowed doors for the last time, we experience mixed emotions. With joy we look back on all the happy times these doors have opened to us. With honor we recall our successes in scholarship, leadership, and service. With pride we remember the achievements which we have witnessed both in our school and our diocese. We have seen our country lose and gain a president during our high school career. We have been privileged to witness the Vatican Council in action. We have been touched with sorrow at the death of our beloved Bishop and with pride at the coronation of our new Shepherd. With a note of sadness we face the closing of those doors which brought us from childhood to maturity. With Christian hope based on the training which we received at Cathedral High School, we close the door to the past and open the door to our future.
